Interdisciplinary Approach`s to Environmental Studies
10-17 December 2018

The Department of Environmental Studies, Zakir Husain Delhi College (Evening) in association with the Department of Environmental Studies, University of Delhi, Delhi is organising a “One Week Faculty Development Programme on Interdisciplinary Approach`s to Environmental Studies” from 10-17 December 2018 (One Week). The objective of the programme is to train and develop the young professionals belonging to different disciplines to explore the various environmental components, so that they can act as 'Resource Persons' in guiding and motivating young students about the various aspects of the environment. It also seeks to develop the discourse emphasizing on challenges in implementation of environmental policies by bringing together intellectuals and environmental experts from all over India. The insights and analysis presented in this programme will provide a critical cornerstone for the development of the environmental awareness. It will further continue the process to refine the building blocks for an implementation framework to anchor the dream of our beloved Prime-Minister Shri Narendra Modi for Clean India.

The workshop will provide a platform for an intensive interaction for participants with well-known academicians, who possess rich experience in academics and industry with publications in highly reputed journals and working in top institutions of the country. There will be an interactive sessions through dialogue and discussions. The certificate will be given to only those participants, who will submit a research paper before the end of the programme.
